

Self

My name is Manish Katwal, and I am originally from Jhapa, a beautiful district in the eastern part of Nepal that shares a border with India. I was born and raised there, where I spent my childhood and completed my high school.

I completed my higher secondary education at Bibhuti Vidya Mandir in Jhapa. Currently, I am pursuing a Bachelor of Information Technology (BIT) at Phoenix College of Management. As a fourth semester student, I am building a strong foundation in computer science through coursework in programming, data structures, alongside my academic studies, I have participated in additional training in web development and data science.

I enjoy learning new technologies and continuously improving my technical skills. Although I am at the beginning of my journey, I want to gain practical experience through internships, collaborate with experienced professionals, and apply my academic knowledge to real world projects. Outside of academics, I enjoy watching movies, exploring new technologies, learning new skills, and playing video games.