

Introduction

Hello everyone! My name is Ranjita Thami, and I am from Kathmandu. I am a friendly, curious, and hardworking person who enjoys learning new things and taking on new challenges. I like spending time with my family and friends, and I always try to maintain a positive attitude. One of my goals is to improve my skills and become successful in my career.

Nowadays, I am pursuing my Bachelor's degree in Information Technology (BIT). Along with my studies, I spend my time learning programming, web development, and working on different academic projects. I also enjoy exploring new technologies, watching educational videos, and practicing coding to improve my knowledge. My aim is to become a skilled IT professional and build useful applications that can help people.
